Information from Poland.

Subject: Anti-aircraft artillery in Grabowek (Gdynia).

25X1

The anti-aircraft artillery placement in Grabowek is called "EMIGRACIJA" because the camp, before the war, was a ~~gathering~~ collecting camp for emigrants.

After the war, the camp was the gathering-place for Germans, and ~~from~~ since 1951, it has been the camp for the anti-aircraft placement.

In 1951 a number of soldiers and officers in the anti-aircraft section (regiment) 87 Pulk Art. O.P. Lot in Warsaw transferred to the anti-aircraft regiment in Grabowek that was then being established. It was said at that time ~~that~~ by the officers of the 87 Pulk that the AA section in Grabowek was also a pulk having (three divisions ~~not~~ of two platoons each, ~~each~~ each of these ~~had~~ two cannons).

Several times, the last time in February 1958, transports to and from the camp of 85 mm AA cannons, drawn by ZIS-151, probably because of maneuvers. The AA artillery in Grabowek has one or more 2½ ton staff-cars of the type GAZ-51.
